Sometimes teasing, sometimes pleasing
Sometimes coaxing, sometimes coaxing,
Now expressing how much dressing,
Little knowing, little sewing,
Little walking, great talking,
Mischievous making, promise breaking,
Novel reading, dainty feeding,
Late dreaming, sudden screaming,
Lap dog dozing, Byron quoting,
Piano playing, gems displaying,
Body bracing, tightly lacing,

Dandy loving, white-kid cloving,
Thin shoes wearing, health despairing,
Daily fretting, sickness getting,
Ever sighing, almost dying,
What blessed wives to cheer men's lives!

Consequences of the War as Affecting Canada.

Disastrous as are the consequences of the war to several of our most important business interests, it cannot be denied that there are some compensating benefits. The lumber trade suffers seriously. The commerce which has been dependent upon American prosperity is paralyzed. Inability to calculate the probabilities of the next few months produces a partial want of confidence; and there is well-grounded reluctance to enter upon new enterprises which are in a remote degree connected with supply or demand in the States, on the other hand, capital from the States is coming hither for investment. Crowds of families, long resident on the other side of the border are flocking into the Province in search of peaceful homes. And the old world, contrasting the relative working of British institutions in Canada, and of democratic institutions amongst our neighbors, will find in the order which prevails here—in the security for property and liberty which our people enjoy, compared with the anarchy and despotism of the other side—powerful and enduring grounds of preference in determining the future current of migration.

More specific and more urgent questions are presented by the influence which recent proceedings of the Federal Government cannot fail to exercise upon the course of provincial trade and travel. With the practical difficulties of the passport system we have nothing to do. If, in the plenitude of his power, Mr. Lincoln undertake to establish a line of agents along the extended frontier of the North, with a view to the arrest of obnoxious travelers—so be it. A cordon of customs' officers has usually been considered inadequate to the prevention of smuggling; and whether any probable number of spies will suffice to check the flow of Southern visitors to Canada, or the passage into the States, from Europe, via Canada, of Southern travelers, time alone will tell. Aside from these aspects of the case, it is manifest that liability to annoyance by detectives stationed at the points of railway connection, or at lake ports touched by steamers, will materially affect the disposition to cross the border, whether on errands of business or pleasure. A man will not unnecessarily visit Detroit, Buffalo, Rochester, Oswego, New York, Portland, or Boston, if at the moment he leaves Canadian soil, a little extra officiousness on the part of the Federal agent, or the malicious promptings of some busy-body or personal enemy, may lead to his arrest, and detention as a suspected Southern sympathizer. So with bona fide Southern travelers, en route for Europe. They will shun the steamers which sail from Philadelphia, New York, and Boston, for to leave any of these ports they must have Federal certificates of orthodoxy. Circumstances will send them to Quebec as the starting place for the voyage.

The Canadian line of steamships then, will hereafter be more than a convenience. To Canadians they will be a necessity, which must be continued in the highest efficiency at any manageable cost. And they will acquire more than a Provincial standing. In utility and reputation they will be continental. The liking they have excited in the minds of American travelers has in a great measure resulted from the convenience and agreeable nature of the inland journey; but they will henceforth be regarded as a desideratum; and Canada will gain in consequence, in traffic and importance.

In the present condition of affairs, however, it is our duty to make provision for more entire maritime independence than we yet possess. With the certainty of passports, and with contingencies which need not be suggested, it is highly inexpedient to rest contented with Portland as the winter station of the steamships. Canada ought to be—passing events proclaim that she must be—in possession of an Atlantic outlet at all seasons of the year, without having to touch States' territory. There are other reasons, arising out of the Grand Trunk embarrassments, for seeking independence of an ocean port that can be reached from Canada only via the leased railway which crosses the State of Maine.

Let us forthwith familiarise ourselves with Halifax as the winter port for Canada; as the port for British America during the prolonged season when other Provincial ports are unavailable. The intercolonial Railway, instead of being further trifled with, should now be pushed forward by the governments as a project alike of Provincial and of National importance. Politically and commercially—as a matter of interest and feeling—this American war renders the railway a prime necessity to Canada. It is not less so to England. And now, therefore, if ever, it becomes us to deal with the project as an urgent thing which Canada, equally with Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, is bound to prosecute without further delay. At no former period were events so favorable to its construction. At none have so many cogent reasons existed for decisive action by the government and parliament of Canada, or by the statesmen who control the destinies of the empire.

A QUEER POTENTATE.—We read in a Paris letter:—"His Majesty Orléans-Antoine I. is in want of cash. There are very few persons, probably, who know who or where H. M. Orléans-Antoine I. is, and therefore I must premise that, not very long since, his Majesty practise as an avoué at Périgueux, and is now acting Royalty in Arancania, in South America. His Arancanian Majesty has just addressed a queer letter to the Perigord newspaper. He talks as well as some other Sovereigns of 'my dynasty,' and informs the Perigord that a 'constitutional monarchy has been established in Arancania,' and that the writer has been called to the throne, 'with succession in perpetuity in favor of my descendants, or of any of my family whom I may appoint.' His Majesty suggests a national subscription here, in order to enable him to keep his throne from capsize, for which purpose he requires an army and navy. But he knows his countrymen's weak point, and tries to tickle their vanity by telling them that his grand object is 'to found throughout the whole of South America a French nation under the title of New France, independent of every other with autonomy right, under my dynasty.' His Majesty sets forth the immense advantages to France of Frenchifying all South America; and, above all, of the line of steamers which he is establishing between Bordeaux and Arancania, to pass by the Straits of Magellan and call at all the ports of South America. M. P. O. A. de Tonnens, or, in Arancania phraseology, King Orléans-Antoine I., thinks that the whole of the press of France must be unanimous in his favor."

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS—A Specific Remedy for Complaints to which Females are liable. After the experience of many years, it is incontestably proved that there is no medicine equal to Holloway's Pills for the cure of diseases incidental to females. They are composed of rare balsams, and are so mild and innocuous that they may be taken by females of all ages. As a medicine for family use Holloway's Pills are unequalled, because, powerfully efficacious as they are in the banishment of disease, they act so gently on the stomach, that they may be given with the utmost confidence and perfect safety to young children.

Presentment of the Grand Jury.

Elsewhere will be found the presentment of the Grand Jury—and a very excellent one it is. The suggestions which it contains cannot fail to be appreciated by both town and country. The necessity for indictments to be explicit, and not include manslaughter under the count of murder, is obvious. The condition of our streets, the want of sewerage, and the great want of an Act of Incorporation, are touched upon as they deserve to be. The dangerous condition of the old bridge has been very properly brought under notice; for if something be not done shortly to repair or pull it down, the services of the Coroner, or the medical fraternity, or both, will be required. What is wanted in this particular is protection for life and property. We are very glad to notice their attention to the condition of the Jail. The condition of the debtor's department reflects no credit on the management of the institution. It is enough for a man to lose his liberty without endangering his health. A remedy ought to be applied at once. No one can read the suggestions of the Grand Jury which we have enumerated without feeling thankful that we have such an institution as a Grand Jury in the country. But when their solemn protest against its abolition is read through, it affords the warmest assurance that the attempt to abolish it will be resented by the country as by one man.

Sheep and Wool Growing in California.

The following review of the report of the "California Sheep Raisers and Wool Growers' Association" we clip from the San Francisco Mercantile Gazette, and it may not prove uninteresting to those who are engaged in sheep raising in this or the neighboring Colony. Possessing as we do such an excellent climate and pasturage for sheep, it is certainly very desirable that such an immediate source of wealth should be encouraged here:

The number of sheep in the State is estimated to be 1,574,666, one year old and upwards—of which 33 per cent. or 204,888 are whethers suitable for market. The daily consumption of mutton in this State is 2,300 per day, or 839,900 per annum. The report deems the late depression in the sheep market to have been the result of panic rather than of necessity—it notes an advance of 60 per cent. in prices since July last, and indicates the certainty of remunerative prices during the year.

In regard to Wool, the report estimates the clip of 1861, exclusive of a large portion of the fall shearing, at 4,544,000 pounds, of which 3,069,000 pounds have been shipped to New York, Boston and England; 76,000 pounds are held by manufacturers in this city; 224,000 pounds are in store for sale or shipment; 175,000 pounds are on shipboard not yet cleared; and about 1,000,000 pounds are in the country not yet forwarded. We think some of these figures are undoubtedly erroneous.

The report states that there are no largely accumulated stocks in any of the great markets, and regards the prospect of a good demand for all grades of wool, and especially of such as California produces, as very encouraging. The vast requirements for army purposes, estimated at not less than 10,000,000 pounds to fill present contracts, the greatly exhausted manufactured stocks held at the East, and the check to foreign importation caused by the present tariff, are alluded to with just confidence as likely to advance the interests of the Wool grower. We may remark that already the Eastern markets are greatly excited, and prices have advanced. The commercial correspondent of the Evening Bulletin, under of 21st Sept., from New York, writes as follows:

Your dealers made a great mistake in shipping so much Wool to England, instead of sending it to this port. It would have fetched much better prices here, and met with a readier sale. Large orders have already gone from here to England for Wool, and it would not surprise us to see some of your shipments to that country reshipped to New York. It would sell here at a fair profit on the cost to England.

The average cost of maintaining flocks in California, to our surprise, is greater, according to the report, than in many of the Eastern States, being estimated at 75 cents per head. The average increase is 95 per cent., the average profit 30 per cent., and the average clip 3 pounds. This estimate includes all grades, and the report goes on to say:

"Were we to particularize, we could name flocks in California that would far exceed any of the above. Taking the reports that have been furnished us, and without any desire to institute comparisons, we may mention Messrs. Godehaux & Blackburn's flock of imported Australian ewes, numbering 1000—yield of wool, 6.3-8 pounds; increase by French Merino rams 94 per cent. A grade flock, belong to Messrs. Flint, Bixby & Co., of 2000—yield of wool, 7 pounds; increase by Spanish Merino rams, nearly 100 per cent. The flocks of Messrs. W. K. Weston and William Knox, mixed Southdown, Leicester and Merino, yielding 3½ pounds of wool, and giving 124 per cent. of increase. The reports furnished us give the following result, and furnish a good comparison between the various breeds:

	Pounds.
Australian Merinos, 94 per cent. increase,	6.3
Grade Merinos, 89 per cent. increase,	5.97
Grade Southdowns, 97 per cent. increase,	3.93
American, 75 per cent. increase,	4
Grade 91 per cent. increase,	3.60
Mixed Southdown, Leicester and Merino,	3.25
124 per cent. increase,

It must be borne in mind that these wools, shorn immediately after the spring rains, are nearly as clean as the Eastern washed wools, and owing to the dryness induced by our climate, are lighter and really more profitable to the manufacturer than those.

At this time the Mission Woolen Factory alone has 150,000 pounds of wool in store, for the execution of its large Government contracts. [Since destroyed by fire.—ED. COLONIST.]

To the Electors of the District of Victoria.

GENTLEMEN:—Having been solicited by many of the voters of your District to come forward as a candidate for your suffrages, and as a vacancy has recently occurred, I now beg to offer myself as a candidate to represent you in the House of Assembly.

By a residence of upwards of three years in the Colony, I have made myself acquainted with many of its requirements; and as it has become my home, it would be my interest as well as my duty to use every endeavor to promote the prosperity of it.

I should consider that while I exerted myself for the general interest of the Colony my attention ought to, and it would be more particularly, directed to the necessities of the District.

I am no invariable supporter or factious opponent of any party. I shall strive, if you do me the honor to return me, by the exercise of my own judgment, to give my support to such measures as I think will be beneficial to you and the Colony in general, and to set my face against those measures that I conceive would have an opposite tendency.

I have only to add that I elected I shall enter the House of Assembly as an independent member.

Your very obedient servant,

JAMES TRIMBLE.

To the Electors of Victoria District. GENTLEMEN:—Another vacancy having occurred in the representation of your District, I am induced, by the invitation of numerous electors, to offer myself as a candidate for your suffrages.

Having made my home here permanently, all my interests are indissolubly connected with the well being and progress of these Colonies; to that object my best exertions must always be directed, and the hope of being able in some degree, to subserve that end, is my sole reason for asking your votes.

I have no pledge to make, further than that, on all questions which may present themselves, my opinions will ever depend on the honest exercise of my own judgment, biased by no other consideration than the advancement of the true interests of this constituency.

It is not without some diffidence that I now ask your support, especially since I am precluded, much to my regret, by urgent business engagements elsewhere, from calling upon you personally at this time; but should you confer on me the honor of being one of your Representatives, my sincere endeavor will be to justify such an expression of your confidence by faithfully fulfilling the trust reposed in me to the best of my ability.

And unlike all other Coal Burners, Ventilate the Apartments quite as thoroughly as a wood fire or open Franklin.

Producing a Current of Air, at once moist, pure and agreeable, and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire port is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache, so much complained of by those using Stoves and Furnaces is entirely obviated.

The Fire may be continued from one to four days without replenishing.

These Stoves are beautiful in design, and finished in the most perfect manner. They are equally appropriate and have given universal satisfaction to all who have adopted them.

FOR OFFICES AND STORES AS WELL

AS THE PARLOR.

The inventor challenges the world to produce an article by which so much pure, warm air can be generated from so small an amount of fuel, requiring but about fifteen pounds of coal to warm an ordinary sized parlor for twenty-four hours, without replenishing, and then leaving fire enough to rekindle without the use of charcoal.

The coal is all used and no cinders made, consequently sifting coal is dispensed with. When this stove is properly managed,

The Fire may be continued through the entire season,

Without once going out. Added to these qualifications the purchaser may reasonably expect to save from thirty to fifty per cent. in fuel of expense.

THESE STOVES ARE GUARANTEED.
